

CALL for Proposals

CALL Conference 2020
May 27–29, Ottawa, Ontario

Communications, General Education, and ESL/Language faculty are invited to submit proposals for presentations, workshops, or facilitated discussion groups under the following theme:

(Re)Visioning 2020

For years, 2020 has been used as a benchmark for institutional strategic planning and visioning exercises. Now that 2020 has arrived, it is important to stop and assess our current situation against those institutional visions, and to plan for what the future holds for Communications, Gen Ed and ESL/Language teaching in the Ontario college system.

Where are we now? Where did we think we would be? How have things changed?
What comes next?

Possible topics to consider:

- Changing learners/educators
- New learning spaces (makerspaces, incubators, active learning spaces, etc.)
- Indigenization
- Internationalization
- Degree programs in colleges
- Collaborative teaching and learning
- College research opportunities
- LGBTQ and minority faculty representation and issues
- Transfer and articulation agreements
- Micro-credentials and badging
- Online / in-class / hybrid learning
- Modularization
- Adaptive learning
- Universal design for learning
- New technological tools for teaching
- Adapting or compressing materials for new forms of delivery

Proposals should be 150-200 words and should include the title, style/format (workshop / presentation / facilitated discussion), and preferred length of session (30, 60, or 90 minutes), as well as a brief bio of the presenter(s). Please also note any AV requirements that you have (beyond a projector and internet connection).

Please submit proposals to: info@callontario.org by January 15, 2020.
For more information about the College Association for Language and Literacy, please visit our website: www.callontario.org

CALL Conference, May 27–29, 2020
Algonquin College, Ottawa, Ontario

